

10 Ways to Share Your Creativity and Get Discovered

By Austin Kleon

In a world where we are constantly bombarded with information, it can be difficult to stand out from the crowd and get your work seen by the people who matter most. But that doesn't mean it's impossible. In his book 10 Ways to Share Your Creativity and Get Discovered, Austin Kleon offers practical advice for artists, writers, musicians, and other creatives on how to get their work seen by the world.

Drawing on his own experience as a successful artist, Kleon shares 10 simple but effective ways to share your work with others and build a following. These tips are not about self-promotion or marketing, but about creating genuine connections with people who are interested in what you have to offer.

Whether you're just starting out or you've been working on your creative projects for years, Kleon's book is full of valuable insights and advice that can help you share your creativity with the world.

10 Ways to Share Your Creativity and Get Discovered

1. Start a blog. A blog is a great way to share your work with the world and connect with other people who are interested in your creative process. You can use your blog to share your thoughts on creativity, post photos of your work, or write about your experiences as an artist.
2. Create a website. A website is another great way to share your work with the world. You can use your website to showcase your portfolio, sell your work, or connect with other creatives.
3. Use social media. Social media is a powerful tool for sharing your work with the world. You can use social media to connect with other creatives, share your work, and promote your events.
4. Submit your work to magazines and journals. Submitting your work to magazines and journals is a great way to get your work seen by a wider audience. You can find submission guidelines for magazines and journals online.
5. Participate in art shows and exhibitions. Art shows and exhibitions are a great way to get your work seen by the public. You can find art shows and exhibitions in your local area or online.
6. Create a portfolio. A portfolio is a collection of your best work. You can use your portfolio to apply for jobs, scholarships, or grants. You can also use your portfolio to show your work to potential clients.

7. Network with other creatives. Networking with other creatives is a great way to learn about new opportunities and get your work seen by more people. You can network with other creatives at art shows, exhibitions, workshops, and online.
8. Teach a class or workshop. Teaching a class or workshop is a great way to share your knowledge and skills with others. You can teach a class or workshop on your creative process, your favorite techniques, or anything else you're passionate about.
9. Give a talk or presentation. Giving a talk or presentation is a great way to share your work with a larger audience. You can give a talk or presentation at a local library, community center, or school.
10. Collaborate with other creatives. Collaborating with other creatives is a great way to learn new things and get your work seen by a different audience. You can collaborate with other creatives on projects, exhibitions, or workshops.

If you're a creative person, it's important to find ways to share your work with the world. By following Austin Kleon's 10 tips, you can get your work seen by more people and start building a following.

Don't be afraid to put yourself out there and share your creativity with the world. You never know who might be interested in what you have to offer.
