If you're driving, you'll need to park your car in Baltimore. There are several parking garages and lots available in the city, and the cost of parking varies depending on the location. You can also park for free on the street in some areas, but be sure to check the signs carefully before you park.

Public Transportation

There is no direct public transportation route from Chestertown to Baltimore. However, you can take a bus from Chestertown to Annapolis, and then transfer to a train to Baltimore. The total trip time is about 2 hours and 30 minutes.

To take the bus from Chestertown to Annapolis, you'll need to go to the Chestertown Transit Center. The bus fare is $6.00. Once you arrive in Annapolis, you'll need to transfer to a train to Baltimore. The train fare is $7.50.

Private Shuttle Services

If you're looking for a more convenient option, you can book a private shuttle service from Chestertown to Baltimore. Private shuttle services are typically more expensive than public transportation, but they offer a number of advantages, including:

- Door-to-door service
- No need to transfer between different modes of transportation
- Flexible schedules

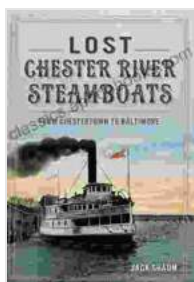

The cost of a private shuttle service from Chestertown to Baltimore varies depending on the company you choose and the time of day you travel.

However, you can expect to pay between $50 and $100 for a one-way trip.

Which Mode of Transportation Is Right for You?

The best mode of transportation for you depends on your individual needs and preferences. If you're looking for the most direct and affordable option, driving is a good choice. If you're looking for a more convenient option, a private shuttle service is a good choice. And if you're looking for a budget-friendly option, public transportation is a good choice.

No matter which mode of transportation you choose, be sure to allow yourself plenty of time to get to your destination. And if you're driving, be sure to check the traffic conditions before you leave.
