Arthur Less, a 49-year-old failed novelist, finds himself on an unlikely literary world tour to avoid attending his ex-boyfriend's wedding. Along the way, he encounters a cast of unforgettable characters who challenge his preconceptions and force him to confront his own regrets and desires.

From the bustling streets of New York City to the serene landscapes of France and India, Arthur's journey is filled with humor, heartbreak, and a profound sense of self-discovery. As he grapples with the question of what it means to be a "lesser" person, he uncovers a hidden path to a life filled with meaning and purpose.

Greer's writing is both insightful and entertaining, weaving together a tapestry of human experience that is both relatable and deeply moving. His characters are complex and flawed, and their struggles and triumphs will resonate with readers of all ages.

Less is not just a novel; it's a literary masterpiece that has the power to change the way you think about yourself, your relationships, and the world around you. It's a must-read for anyone searching for meaning and fulfillment in a world that often seems chaotic and overwhelming.
